Garrard Sees Jump In ACT Scores

By Ted Cox

tc Cox@garrardcentralrecord.com

After remaining stagnant at 17.9 for the last three years, Garrard County juniors finally saw a swift jump in their total average on the ACT exam in 2011-2012, an increase that Superintendent Donald Aldridge says is the beginning of an uphill climb.

Overall results from the 2012 administration of the ACT to Garrard County's juniors show improvements in all subject areas. The overall composite scores for the year increased slightly from 17.9 last year to 18.2 this year.

"Though the increase in ACT scores is small at this point, they already show that an intensified emphasis on college/career readiness is working," Aldridge said.

Kentucky's Unbridled Learning accountability model includes a college/career readiness component, through which schools and districts will be held accountable for the percentage of students who are considered ready for college and/or careers. The college-ready indicator includes students who met the Kentucky Council on Postsecondary Education Systemwide Benchmarks for reading (20), English (18) and mathematics (19) on any administration of the ACT.

US 27 Expansion In Northern Garrard Complete

By Ted Cox

tc Cox@garrardcentralrecord.com

The $38.6 million project involving the relocation and widening of US 27 in Garrard County from south of Camp Nelson to 1,500 feet south of KY 34 has officially reached completion according to the Kentucky Department of Transportation.

The Kentucky Transportation Cabinet, Department of Highways, announced last Friday all lanes were now open on US 27 in Garrard County.

A ribbon-cutting event is planned for sometime in October to commemorate the new stretch of roadway.

More than four years after state and local officials broke ground on the project in September 2007, work finished up on August 24 on the widening of a five-mile section of highway.

In 2007, when the project

Gambling Charges Added To Chapra's List Of Illegal Activities

By Pattie Cox

pc Cox@garrardcentralrecord.com

A local storeowner recently indicted with first-degree wanton endangerment, the result of an accident allegedly caused when the accused was drag racing on Aug. 11, turned himself into authorities last week in order to stay out of jail. What Usman (John) M. Chapra, 28, Lexington, discovered were additional warrants for his arrest, all related to alleged gambling activities in his Lancaster stores.

Chapra has been charged with two counts of second-degree promoting gambling, two counts of permitting gambling and two counts of possession of a gambling device. Authorities with Alcoholic Beverage Control, while investigating Chapra's stores, Shell Foodmart on Lexington Street and 52 Express on Richmond Street, became concerned when they found hard liquor in Chapra's office that he claimed was for personal use. Although Chapra can legally sell beer in his stores, finding the hard liquor made ABC officers question the gaming equipment, which is legal unless the participants receive payouts, Garrard County Sheriff Ron Wardrip explained.

Upon the advice of his lawyer, Chapra turned himself in last Wednesday afternoon and posted $4,500 in cash bond payments in order to stay out of jail.

Allison Abrasives Celebrates 25 Years In Lancaster

By Ted Cox

tc Cox@garrardcentralrecord.com

Allison Abrasives, which came to Lancaster in 1986 and built its existing plant in 1987, is Garrard County's largest industrial employer. On Saturday they celebrated 25 years of calling Garrard County home.

In late 1986, the Allison-Campbell Division was purchased by Allison Abrasives, Inc., a closely held independent company which was headed by Donald A. Farmer. The entire manufacturing operation was moved in late 1987 to a modern 175,000 square foot manufacturing facility located in Lancaster.

"We are here to celebrate the 25th anniversary of Allison Abrasives coming to Lancaster," CEO Jim Minteer told the crowd on Saturday. "We provide the highest quality cutting wheels at the lowest possible prices and we have been able to do so from this plant for the last 25

Allison cutting wheels are used to cut rail for the railroad industry, glass tubing, high-temperature and high strength alloys of all types, jet engine blades, automotive components, golf shafts, concrete and numerous other materials.

The company has engineered cutoff wheels for titanium, nickel, waspaloy, hastelloy, moon rock and other exotic materials.

Applications include cut-off wheels for primary metals, foundries, investment casters, railroads, tubing and pipe, bars and virtually any other metal application.

In 2010 Allison Abrasives announced an expansion that led the company into producing 63-inch and 72-inch cutting wheels. The company plans to eventually increase the capability for production of 87-inch wheels.

The cost was more than $2.6 million and added 10 jobs that pay an average hourly wage of $12.50 with

Habitat News

Garrard County Habitat for Humanity has been back to work on the 113 building site. Luther Bruner, our electrician has been in and completed most of the wiring, including all the plugs, switches and most of the lighting. The bathroom light was too large, so must be replaced.
We volunteers helped him put the ceiling fans together. They are a trial to him and after the first one, and the frustration of trying to get the paddles attached to the fan motor, it is easy to see his reluctance to do them and why he is all too happy to pass on the job. It is not hard, just frustrating as the area to work in is awkward. You have to put the paddle, which is not heavy but 18 inches or so long, onto the fan motor, feed a screwdriver with a small screw balanced on it through a tiny hole in the light casing, line up the three areas, fit the screw into the hole in both and fasten the paddle into place. Just about the time you get all of these lined up the screw will fall off, landing in the debris that seems always to be on the floor. There are never any extra, so it must be found. After this happens several times, the job gets old and so does the getting up and down the ladder.
We finally resorted to being the retriever for Luther, who of course has much more experience with this frustration, but is happy to have the fallen supplies handed back to him. He drops as many, but a retriever saves the ladder trips. If it weren't for the economy of the fan, we probably would not use them. Anyway, we are all happy when that job is done.

We started laying the laminate flooring on Monday and hope to have it complete by the end of the week. The homeowner is just about done with the paint, lacking only the doors now.
We want to say how glad we are to see our faithful volunteer, Cecil Dunn, back on his front porch. He has had some serious health issues this month. We send him our prayers.
Please call Roberta Keefe at 859-548-2270 to help build.

Best Part Of August Ending Is September

POINTS EAST
By Ike Adams
By the time most of you readers get to the column this week, August will be over and we will all be able to commence enjoying the very best thing about August in the first place.
Because the very best thing about August is that it is followed by September, which is rivaled only by May, as my favorite month of the year.

While Labor Day weekend finds most folks out celebrating the last warm weather holiday of the year, I usually spend at least part of mine sowing lettuce, radishes, mustard, collards, turnips, spinach and planting a short row of snow peas or sugar snaps. The peas are a hit or miss proposition but it only takes a few minutes to give them a shot to see if they can survive late heat waves and still beat the first killing frost. I will also set out three or four cabbage, broccoli, cauliflower and Brussels sprouts plants if I can find them.
Turnips, sown now, tend to be small, tender and without any pith when they start getting mature enough to harvest in mid October and they will continue to recover and grow after every cold spell until the first of the year. There's simply nothing like turnips and greens, fresh from the garden to go with all that turkey and ham stuff that we tend to associate with Thanksgiving and Christmas. Spinach, sown now, will usually survive the winter and, along with turnip greens, be the first thing I get out of the garden come next spring.

The short row of bodacious sweet corn, just now in tassels, and the Bufford Caudill and Black Satin fall beans, fully trestled and just now in blossom should be ready to harvest by the middle of September along with green onions and cucumbers, all of which I planted in mid-July. We should still have plenty green peppers and tomatoes. Before the end of September we should be able to have the best meal that we will get out of the garden all year and hopefully have enough veggies to provide the makings of meals for our daughters and Little Tommy Miller.
By mid-month the katydids and crickets will be in full harmony with the volume turned all the way up. Owls and whippoorwills will occasionally join the chorus. Nights will be just cool enough to turn off the AC and open all the windows so that we can enjoy the sounds and scents of late summer/early autumn carried on gentle breezes to the bedroom before they lull us into slumber.
Dawns will find me kicked back on the platform porch swing that Rufus Harrison thinks he built for Loretta even though I hog it most of the time. I will have binoculars in hand and my eyes will be wandering over the dead tree tops killed by the ice storm a few years back when it laid waste to the woods across the way. I will be searching for migrating raptors—red tailed, red shouldered, sharp shinned, Coopers and other hawks that light in the tree tops and taking some pride when I can tell the difference between a Coopers and a sharp shinned.

I will be thrilled by the frequent American Kestrel hovering over the Brown's hayfield and then diving on an unsuspecting mouse. I will marvel at the long, wide honking v's of Canadian and snow geese getting early morning starts on their annual journeys to the tropics before the month is over.
Early evenings will find Loretta and me walking the fence row between our lawn and the Brown's big pasture to admire the grazing herd of Angus calves, the last of the sunflowers, the stunningly purple iron weed blossoms and to shake our heads in wonder at all the growth our dipper gourds have achieved in just one night as they dangle on the fence.
So if you pass by and notice the two of us holding hands as we stroll about or take an evening walk along Charlie Brown Road, just know that we are feeling sort of special. Thirty years ago, this month, we decided to become full partners in this life and that's really the biggest reason that September is my favorite time of year.

The Big Weekend

Standing watching a parade
Wasn't really where I wanted to be
But Emily and Jaden were in it
And them I wanted to see.

As I stood there watching
Who across the street did I see
The mayor waving at the marchers
Or wait maybe she's waving at me.

Before the parade started
Weren't many folks on the square
Was more around the fountain
Than there was anywhere.

But this time tobacco was included
In fact this year instead

By Jimmy Naylor

One parade float gave new meaning
To the old term tobacco bed.

Wasn't there for Josh Logan's show
It probably drew a big crowd
The other music was alright
But mostly it was just loud.

I stopped by to listen for awhile
Didn't see a soul I knew
So I did like all my friends
And took myself home too.

Some how this year's weekend
Avoided everyone's greatest fear
The whole thing is over
And it didn't rain this year.

“DeBanking” The Bank, Getting The Arts Centered In Paint Lick

Hal and Yvonne Davis have finally completed the “debanking” process at their new building in Paint Lick, the former First Southern National Bank. Marvin Turner, Hank Smith, Sonny Adams and Michael Murphy exercised engineering genius, strength and patience as they hauled out the safety deposit boxes unit and the night depository box safe.

Having completely remodeled the upstairs apartment, thanks to the excellent work of Sammy and Lee Durham they are now focusing their efforts on developing the spaces on the first floor to become “Paint Lick Community Arts Center” and a retail shop called, “Halyvonne’s Secret Garden”. A not-for-profit entity, the arts center will host music recitals, poetry readings, drama and will offer the community workshops and classes in the arts. The shop will offer for sale fine arts items and collectibles with “experienced beauty”.

The grand opening of the center and shop will be Friday, October 5th, 5:30-8:30pm, an open house tour of the facility with live music and refreshments. The public is welcomed. That same evening will also be the opening reception of the center’s first community art exhibit, showing works by people living in the Paint Lick area. Many of the paintings on display will have been done by students who are currently taking oil painting from Hal Davis at the center.

After the October 5th opening a full schedule of arts classes and workshops will commence. They are the following:

*Round Two of Introductory Oil Painting taught by Hal Davis. Mondays, 9:30am and Wednesdays, 6:30pm. Eight sessions, $35, materials included.

*Tuesdays, October 9, 23 and 30, 6:00pm. Buddy Dobbins will offer hand-building in clay. At the end of his class the student will have a fired ceramic piece. $50 includes materials and firing.

*Beginning Oct. 18, a creative writing class, taught by EKU professor, Christina Lovin, will be offered on five Thursday evenings, 6:30-8:00. Cost yet to be determined.

*Saturday mornings, 10:30am, will be devoted to children with reading to the children and crafts.

*Three Saturdays in October, 13,20 and 27, 3:00-5:00pm, professional photographer, Warren Brunner, of Berea, will teach photography. Fee: $25.

*Yoga, led by Kristina Eeamans, will be offered on Tuesday evenings at 6:30, Nov. 6 – Dec. 11. Cost yet to be determined.

*A culinary workshop (cooking) will be offered on Saturday afternoons in November. Details to follow.

*Christmas activities for children are being developed and will be announced soon.

A Mother’s Love

Dear Editor,

When a mother losses a child she losses a part of herself. I have three children and can’t imagine how a mother would cope with the loss of one of her babies. But, because she has lost a child does not mean that she has the right to blame others. She sure would feel like blaming someone, even someone who tried to help at the time of the accident. Life is not fair at times and we must turn to God for help. I hope you seek help from God and my prayers are with you.

Jostling For Position

By Kay Camenisch

Summer is over. School is back in session, and political debate is heating up. Candidates spar as they jostle for position, trying to get ahead of their opponents. It is still hot, but it's beginning to feel like summer never happened.

One sign of the end of summer is school buses that fill the roads as they travel to all corners of the county, picking up and dropping off students. Seeing a bus full of children takes me back to my school days.

In the first through the fourth grades, I rode the bus to Stone Mountain Elementary School, located in the shadow of the big granite rock east of Atlanta. That was a long time ago, but vivid memories live on from those early days of riding the bus.

Each morning Mr. Bowman, our driver, welcomed us with a smile, a nod, and a greeting as we climbed aboard. He was also kind and patient when Ellen came running out of her house at the last minute with books in one arm, brush and hair band in the other hand, and a piece of toast gripped between her teeth. If the bus hadn't stopped in front of her house, she could have missed a lot of school.

Along with my siblings and kids from 4 or 5 other families, I caught the bus in front of the Moss's. Their house was new and the yard was thick red clay, littered with small rocks. It took several years of hard work to make a nice lawn, so the grass was sparse. Daily gatherings of the neighborhood kids waiting for the bus probably didn't help much.

Stipe Earns Associate's Degree in Business Administration -Management From National College

Submitted By
National News Bluegrass Edition

National College is all in the family for DeWayne Stipe, a Danville, Kentucky Campus graduate who recently earned his associate's degree in Business Administration—Management.

Stipe, who began work in January as a Court Security Officer (CSO) for the Garrard County Sheriff Department, said he came to National at the recommendation of his sister-in-law, Patricia King.

"I thought that I was too old but she told me there were people older than me here," he said. "I was unemployed and not having any success finding a job. There's not a lot of opportunities out there, especially if you don't have an education."

Stipe was nervous about returning to school but he said that instructors at National eased his fears. "I have test anxiety and phobia but I didn't have any problems," he said of the classes in which he received lots of one-on-one attention.

Stipe felt so strongly about the training that he was receiving at National that when his wife, Brenda Stipe, lost her job, he encouraged her to visit the school.

"I brought her over here and introduced her to everybody. I said 'This is something you need to do,'" he recalled, adding that she's now enrolled in the medical billing and coding program at the campus.

In his job as a CSO, Stipe performs security checks and bailiff duties, serves papers and writes reports. His favorite part of his job is working with the public and easing their anxieties during their visit to the courthouse.

Stipe is proud of his new job but his proudest moment dur-

My most dramatic memory from riding the bus involved Mrs. Saterwhite, who lived across the street from us and two doors down from the Mosses. One afternoon, she forgot a pan on the stove. When she got out of the shower, the house was filled with smoke. In a panic, she grabbed a towel, but instead of taking time to wrap herself in it, she ran outside with it draped in front, carefully hiding her shapely form.

However, when she saw the bus filled with children coming up the street, she turned and fled back inside. She must have figured the smoky house was better than a bus load of kids staring at her. We watched as she scurried through the door—with her backside exposed to a bus load of wide-opened eyes.

Sometimes, the unexpected happens while riding a bus.

As we waited for the bus in the mornings, we played games. When the weather was nice, we played chase, hop scotch, Simon Says, or made up our own games.

On cold crisp mornings, needle ice formed at the edge of the yard where grass hadn't taken hold. We got our morning exercise and tried to stay warm while stomping the tall, crunchy, columns of ice. The crunch with each step was as entertaining and satisfying as popping bubbles on packing material today.

However, playing games created a problem. If we were first in line, we got to choose where we sat on the bus. But, if we chose to play, we'd lose our place and would likely be the last one on the bus. We couldn't hold our position and play at the same time. That was a major problem, because nobody wanted to be last.

Consequently, we concocted a solution that my father still talked about when he was in his nineties. If we wanted to play instead of standing in line, we'd let a rock hold our place. They were little rocks, about the size of a quarter. Every day, we'd each pick a random place-holder from the Mosses yard, and it would stand in line for us.

By the time the bus came, there would be eight to twelve rocks lined up perpendicular to the road. Everyone remembered which was theirs and everybody honored the rock system. When the bus appeared, we ran and lined up according to the placement of rocks. We boarded the bus without any jostling for position.

As young children, we came up with the solution on our own—and yet it was simple, cheap, convenient, and it worked like a charm.

Now that it's fall and the buses are running and politicians competing, I've been wondering. With all the discord and difficulty in finding solutions in the government, what do you reckon would happen if we let a neighborhood of kids take charge for a few days? Or, maybe just for the mornings—while they're waiting for the bus.

Maybe we could stop the ugly jostling for position if our country had a system that is simple, cheap, convenient, and works like a charm.

AARP Meets

The local chapter of AARP met on August 21, 2012 at the Kentucky Depot in Stanford. There were 22 in attendance.

Richard Chamberlin welcomed everyone and Mac Gay gave the invocation before the noon meal.

Jayne Merida, program chairperson, introduced the guest speakers, Rebecca Craft-Carlos, who is a physician's liaison at UK Hospital talked about clinical trials with cancer. She then presented Dr. Lowell Anthony, the head of the UK Markey Cancer Center in Lexington. Dr. Anthony informed us of all the clinical trials of Phase 1,2 and 3. He told of many drugs that can be used in an individual with cancer during each phase. This was a very interesting and informative presentation.

During the business session the pledge to the flag was given by Don Merida. The group then sang "My Country Tis of Thee"

Shirley Turner read the minutes of last month's meeting held at Ryan's Steakhouse in Richmond.

The treasurer, Brenda Eason, presented the financial report.

President Chambelin asked for the August birthdays. Two members Jayne Merida and Wayne Ray celebrated their respective birthdays on the 19th and the 8th of August. The group sang "Happy Birthday" to them. They also sang "Happy Anniversary" (#58) to Richard and Virginia Chamberlin who celebrated on August 27th.

The door prize theme was "Dog Days of Summer." Each member picked a favorite photo of a dog from a bowl. There were four winners who received a dog ornament as a prize. Winners were Dee Hatfield, Freeman Adams, Barbara Ray and Virginia Chamberlin.

The next meeting of AARP will be September 18, 2012. It will be held at the Smokehouse Grill in Berea at 12 noon. If anyone desires a ride on the Senior Citizen's bus please call Richard Chamberlin at 792-6613.

If you are 50 years of age or older you are welcome to come to our next meeting on September 18th.

we need to schedule another workday soon!

I have recently learned a few things about rabies and horses. Horses can show symptoms two to three weeks after being bitten by an infected animal. An infected horse might act depressed and run a fever and/or lose their appetite and have convulsions. There will be pain at the bite site and possible lameness. A horse will get less responsive, disoriented, drink less water, and begin to drool. It is easy to confuse rabies in a horse with other illnesses, because the early symptoms can mimic a respiratory illness. Rabies is not common in horses, but it can happen.

There are two forms of rabies-the furious, aggressive form and the dumb, depressed form. A horse with rabies can go from acting depressed to being aggressive at any time. Rabies can't be cured but you can take measures to decrease your horse's risk of contracting rabies.

First off-vaccinate your horse and other farm animals against rabies. Also, clean up spilled grain and other trash that would attract potential rabies carrying animals to your property. Watch out for wild animals that are acting out of character. Skunks, foxes, bats, raccoons, and coyotes are frequent carriers. Also, keep your stall doors closed so that any wild animals wandering into the barn can't get into your stalls.

Have a good week, folks & be careful.

ing his time at National came during the campus's commencement ceremony in May.

"I didn't get to graduate from high school," he explained. "It broke my Mom's heart not to see me walk across the stage and get that high school diploma so this was really special for her to see me walk across the stage and get my degree."

Stipe plans to continue his education. "I'm not finished. I've enrolled for the Fall term at the Lexington campus for the Bachelor's degree," he said. "Stay positive and never think it's too late or you're too old to accomplish your goals."

News from Garrard County Schools

Garrard County Schools Recognize Achievement, Focus on the Future

This article is written as a communication to Garrard County School parents, students, and community stakeholders to provide ongoing information and updates about your schools.

When driving on US 27 in North Garrard, glance up! The new billboard promoting Garrard County Schools looms proudly above the roadway, advertising Garrard's vision of "Expect the Best". With a smiling picture of last year's Valedictorian, Spencer Overstreet, the billboard is a way to advance the positive message that the school system is working to build on the future of Garrard's youngest citizens.

The slogan, Foundation for the Future, was chosen to foster public awareness of the many initiatives that are now in place to help Garrard students prepare for the future. These include the AdvanceKY initiative at the high school, the dual credit programs offered through partnerships with area colleges, and the College and Career Readiness initiative that guarantees more students will graduate ready to go into college or the work force being successful.

Look for additional avenues coming in the future with which Garrard County Schools can communicate positively with stakeholders about the many programs and initiatives being implemented in our local schools.

Semi -Truck Rolls Over Embankment On Sutton Lane

Driver Still Listed In Serious Condition

By Pattie Cox

pcox@garrardcentralrecord.com

A Friday afternoon accident in northern Garrard County left the driver of a semi-truck injured and his rig totaled.

The accident happened when the truck and a car met in a curve on Sutton Lane causing both to hug the shoulders of the narrow country roadway, according to Deputy Sheriff Tim Davis. When the trailer tires slipped off the roadway the weight of the load pulled the entire rig over the embankment and onto its side leaving the driver trapped.

David H. Metcalf, 72, Corbin, had to be removed with extrication equipment. He was transported to Danville for treatment but as his condition worsened the decision was made to take him to Lexington by helicopter where he remains listed in serious condition at the University of Kentucky Medical Center.

Although initial reports indicated that there had been a fuel spill due to the accident, Davis said that was not true. Only minor leakage occurred, he said.

Barger's Towing was called to bring in two large recovery vehicles to remove the tractor and trailer.

Camp Dick Fire and Rescue transported Metcalf. Garrard EMS and the Emergency Management Agency Director Wendell Hatfield, also responded to make sure that hazardous materials were properly contained.

Metcalf was hauling large stone for Lane's End Stone Company intended for delivery to McAlister Stone.

The Camp Dick Fire and Rescue Department responded to the semi-truck accident on Sutton Lane Friday. It took eight people to pull the driver of the truck, David Metcalf, from the wreckage and up the embankment. Metcalf was hauling rocks.

US 27 North Completed

began to take shape, the daily traffic count reached about 18,500 vehicles per day, yet is expected to grow to 37,000 within 20 years.

This project is the ninth of ten similar projects in Kentucky, in which different phases, such as design and construction, continue simultaneously. Success with each has varied.

Another project to widen US 27 from Ky. 34 to the US 150 Bypass in Stanford is planned for the future, though no time tables on that project have yet been released.

US 27 enters Kentucky near Whitley City. The first major town it goes through is Somerset, followed by Nicholasville, and Lexington, where it begins a concurrency with US 68 that continues to Paris. US 27 continues north from there through Cynthiana, Falmouth, Alexandria, Highland Heights, Fort Thomas, and Newport before crossing into Ohio at Cincinnati via Taylor-Southgate Bridge. From its junction with Interstate 471 in Highland Heights through Campbell County, it is a four-lane highway with a center turn lane for both directions of traffic. Near the "welcome to Alexandria" sign at KY 536, US 27 becomes a divided four-lane highway with a grass median. It is currently being constructed as such for the rest of its length from KY 536 through southern Campbell county.

US 27 is a north-south United States highway from the southern to midwestern United States, appearing in 1926 and replacing the western route of the Dixie Highway. The southern terminus is at US 1 in Miami, Florida. The northern terminus is at Interstate 69 (I-69) in Fort Wayne, Indiana.

The parade was again a rousing success as hundreds of people crowded the sides of Lexington Street as the parade passed through town.

Along for the ride on his tractor as always were his helpers Bit, Tinker, Mia, Chase and Skeeter (not pictured)- his dogs.

Barker entered the photo in the 2012 IBA Calendar Photo Search Contest and it was selected as one of 12 for Dairy World's annual calendar.

The photos of Edgington, who has been a dairy farmer for 40 years, appears for the month of August.

Garrard County Adds Bicycle EMS Crew

By Ted Cox
tcx@garrardcentralrecord.com

Garrard County has recently added a more mobile unit to its crew for special events in which an ambulance may be hard to maneuver through blocked off streets and crowds and it all comes from donations.

Garrard EMS got their first chance to deploy their Bike Medical Unit this past weekend at the Garrard Rural Heritage Tobacco Festival.

"Through my past years working here I always noticed that we have a lot of people out here on the square during events like this," Michael Mullins, who spearheaded the project, said. "That makes people in need hard to get to. The ambulance is hard to maneuver through these crowds. This program allows us to get in there quicker and deliver immediate assistance until an ambulance can arrive. If it's a small emergency then we can take care of it by ourselves."

The team has the ability to provide both advanced life support and basic life support. The bike medical unit will be deployed at various special events throughout the year.

Five members of the EMS crew have been certified as a part of the bike unit, including Brandon Brown, Daniel Crossfield, Gerald Beavers, Leslie Kirby and Mullins.

"I'm very proud of Michael on this," Chuck O'Neil, head of EMS, said. "He came to me with this proposal and I explained to him that we have a limited tax-funded budget but I did think it was something that our community could benefit from. I told him that if he could find some donations that I would support it and he took the bull by the horns."

GCEMS would like to thank the following vendors and businesses for their generous support toward the start-up of the bike medical unit.

Furlough Day Sept. 4

(From Front)

District Court, Offices of Circuit Court Clerk, the Administrative Office of the Courts and all court services, including Pretrial Services, Drug Court, the Court Designated Worker Program, Court Interpreting Services, the State Law Library and driver license branches.

The Supreme Court of Kentucky has approved two orders that provide guidance on how the statewide court closures are to be implemented. While the two orders provide more detail, below is a summary of what the public and the law enforcement and legal communities should expect on furlough days:

- Trials and other court proceedings will not be scheduled on furlough days as there will be no staff available. Items already on the docket for those days will be rescheduled.
- Driver licenses will not be issued.

- The Supreme Court will suspend its rule requiring pretrial officers to interview a defendant within 12 hours after incarceration. No Pretrial Services staff will be working on furlough days.
- Deputy clerks will not be available to process bonds and no release orders will be issued.
- Existing after-hours protocol will be followed for processing domestic violence orders (DVOs) and emergency protective orders (EPOs).
- Local court designated workers will not be available. The Court Designated Worker Program will have a supervisor available to ensure that law enforcement adheres to its statutory requirements in cases involving the arrest and custody of juveniles.
- Technology Services staff will not be available to recover the CourtNet database in the event the system experiences an interruption in service.

- County offices that share space with the state court system in courthouses and judicial centers will not be affected.

Furloughs are one of several measures included in the Judicial Branch's FY 2013 Budget Reduction Plan. The 2012 Kentucky General Assembly reduced the total funds available to the Judicial Branch by $25.2 million for FY 2013. This included a permanent reduction to the annual base operating budget of $16.2 million and a one-time transfer of $9 million in payroll to the state's general fund on June 30, 2012. Since the economic crisis began in 2008, the Judicial Branch has sustained repeated reductions to its budget and has cut 282 employees statewide, eliminated court programs and trimmed operating costs at all four levels of the court system to stay within its budget.

The Supreme Court and leadership from the Administrative Office of the Courts will meet in January 2013 to determine if additional furloughs and reductions are necessary for the remainder of FY 2013, which runs July 1, 2012, to June 30, 2013. They will also begin drafting a budget reduction plan for FY 2014, which presents an even greater shortfall than in FY 2013.

Kentucky Judicial Branch

The chief justice of Kentucky is the administrative head of the state court system and is responsible for its operation. The Administrative Office of the Courts is the operations arm of the court system. The AOC executes the Judicial Branch budget and supports the activities of nearly 3,300 court system employees and 403 elected justices, judges and circuit court clerks.

Lions Lose To Anderson County 24-16

By Danny Elam
delam@garrardcentralrecord.com

For the second year in a row Garrard County came out on the short end of a tough, hard played game in the Bob Allen Pigskin Classic at Danville. Last year the Lions lost to the host Admirals 22-14. This year it was a loss to the defending Class 5A state runner up Anderson County 24-16.

"We just have to move on like last year," Garrard coach Mark Scenters said. "We played a tough, physical football game against a much larger opponent. Although we lost I thought we played a better overall game this week than we did in game one."

The Lions picked up some injuries in the contest with the biggest scare coming when senior quarterback Billy Abney went down with what appeared to be a serious knee injury in the fourth period. Abney was able to walk off the field but didn't return.

"Injury wise we have so many kids right now that are banged up. It a difficult situation," Scenters said. "As for Billy just like the others we just have to wait and see what the doctors say and proceed accordingly."

Anderson County started with a bang going 59 yards in just three plays on the game's first possession, scoring on a six yard Granville Hayes run for a quick 7-0 lead.

Late in the first quarter the Bearcats used a 14 play drive to get deep in Garrard territory before the Lion defense stiffened and forced a 19 yard Joe Rose field goal that gave the Bearcats a 10-0 lead.

The Garrard offense responded with a 14 play drive covering 68 yards for a touchdown when Abney ran in from the three yard line but Garrett Caudill's PAT attempt failed.

Zach Carmichael hit Ross Cox with a 30 yard scoring pass late in the first half to give the Bearcats a 17-6 lead but once again the Lions responded.

Garrard's Layne Cumby tries to slip past Anderson County's Lucas Durr in the Golden Lions' Bob Allen Pigskin Classic loss to the Bearcats

Behind the legs and arm of Abney the Lions marched deep into Bearcat territory but were forced to settle for a Caudill 28 yard field goal as time ran out in the half.

A Carmichael to Austin Hall 13 yard touchdown pass gave Anderson a 24-9 lead early in the fourth period.

Abney was hurt on the Lions' next possession forcing freshman Slade Crutchfield into action at quarterback.

One possession later Crutchfield drove Garrard deep into Bearcat territory but his pass intended for Caudill was deflected and intercepted by Hunter New.

The first play after the interception Crutchfield got even picking off a Carmichael pass and returning it 28 yards for a touchdown, the freshman's second pick six of the season, to cut the Garrard deficit to 24-6 but the Bearcats were able to run out the clock to seal the win.

"I am proud of our offensive line and our lead blockers," Scenters said. "Defensively our kids continue to play pretty well. I believe our defense will be what we continue to hang our hats on."

Garrard freshman quarterback Slade Crutchfield talks with Offensive Coordinator Ryan Jones. Crutchfield took over when starter Billy Abney was injured.

Garrard returns to Dye-house Stadium Friday night with a Homecoming date with Lloyd Memorial beginning at 8 pm.

Garrard Hosts Lloyd Memorial On Homecoming

By Danny Elam
delam@garrardcentralrecord.com

Garrard County had little trouble with Lloyd Memorial last season, winning 38-0 in Erlanger.

The Golden Lions will be looking for similar results Friday night when the Juggernauts make a Homecoming appearance at Dyehouse Stadium.

The game could be more of a test this time around. Coach Josh Stratton's Class 2A club returns several starters from last season and the Juggernauts are off to a 2-0 start with wins over Owen County and Dayton.

Senior quarterback Dexter Smith is a dual threat who can both run and throw. Smith also plays defense as do most of the Juggernauts. Lloyd has only 29 players listed on the roster.

Juniors Kyle Grant and Brian Warren will get most of the carries on the ground. Another junior Jared Gabbard will see lead the defense from their linebacker spots.

Like last season the Golden Lions will be coming off a loss in the Bob Allen Pigskin Classic and will be looking to get back on the winning track against the Juggernauts.

The Lions came out of the Anderson County loss banged up a little. Quarterback Billy Abney was the main loss, going out with a knee injury but Abney is expected to play Friday night.

Game time is 8 pm.

GARRARD FOOTBALL - The Golden Lion uniforms looked great Saturday night. Loved the gold pants. Garrard now has several combinations they can wear and all look good. Uniforms are just one of many things that have changed since I played back in the 60s. Back then we had a pair of solid white pants and a solid white helmet. We did have two jerseys one cardinal with white numbers and the other white with cardinal numbers. They were pretty basic. I do remember my senior year the Optimist Club bought us a set of gold jerseys with cardinal numbers but we still had to wear the plain white pants. Funny things none of the numbers matched the size of the uniforms so most had to wear another number. We had lineman numbers in the backfield and vice versa. Normally # 58 I wore # 46 and played tackle. We only wore them one game at Madison Central when we played on EKU's field. Another big change is the size of the kids today. When I played there might be a couple of 200 pounders on a team. Garrard alone had 13 and also three 300 pounders. There was also no such thing as a trainer, a weight room or game film. Another change is the coaching staff. We had a head coach and an assistant coach. Now there are as many as ten coaches on some teams. I guess this is better but sometimes I wonder. Every move on the field is orchestrated from the sideline. When I was in school the quarterback called almost all the plays. Occasionally the coach might send in a play with a sub. On defense we stayed in the same basic defense all night long. The quality of play has no doubt improved over the years but there were some pretty good football teams back in the day also.

LION WALK - Due to the 8 pm start Friday night. The LionWalk wil begin at about 6:45 when the team arrives at Dyehouse Stadium.

UK FOOTBALL - I'm not even going to predict the Wildcats season but I will say Sunday's Louisville game will have a major impact on how the Cats do. An upset of the Cardinals could lead to five or six wins and maybe a minor bowl trip. Another loss to U of L would start a downward spiral that could result in three or four wins and the dismissal of Joker Phillips.

Lions Drop Home Opener

By Danny Elam

delam@garrardcentralrecord.com

Shawn Ramos and Christian Gateskill-Fuqua combined for five goals as Boyle County defeated Garrard County Tuesday night in the Golden Lions home opener.

Although the Lions lost coach Kevin Green was impressed with the way his team played. "This group has so much heart. I was not expecting to see the great work ethic they have. They want to do it," he said.

Gateskill-Fuqua scored twice in the first half as the Ads built up a 5-0 lead while outshooting the Lions 16-2.

Ramos scored two times in the first nine minutes of the second half with the last goal coming on a penalty kick after a Garrard foul in the box.

For the game Danville (4-2-1) outshot Garrard (0-3) 29-3.

"Seeing us from the Corbin game until now doesn't reflect this game at all," Green said. "I think this was overall the best game we have played."

Garrard Loses At Rockcastle

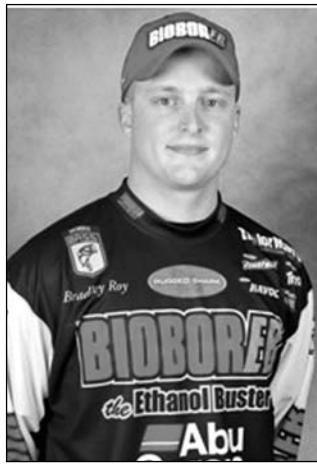

Garrard County lost a close 2-0 decision at Rockcastle County Tuesday night. The Lady Lions lost game one 25-23 and game two 26-24.

The Lady Lion freshman also lost 2-0 (21-18, 21-5) but the Garrard freshmen came out on top 2-1 (14-17, 17-10, 17-13).

Roy Vying For Berth In All-Star Week Tournament

Lancaster resident and Elite Series angler Bradley Roy is among 89 pros vying for a berth in the upcoming Toyota Trucks All-Star Week bass fishing tournament in Decatur, Ill., Sept. 20-23. If fans vote Roy into the All-Star competition, he plans to donate 20 percent of his winnings to the Ovarian Awareness of Kentucky (O.A.K) in honor of his grandmother, Judy Roy, who died of the disease just prior to his Elite Series rookie season in 2010. He was only 19 years old and the youngest angler ever to compete in the Bassmaster Elite Series.

From Aug. 28 through Sept. 10, fans have the opportunity to cast their votes online at www.bassmaster.com/vote to determine the remaining four anglers. If voted into one of the fan favorite slots, Roy will compete in the All-Star Semifinal, to be held on Lake Shelbyville, Sept. 20-21, with all 12 qualifiers competing to weigh in the heaviest catches of bass. The top four fishermen from the preliminary rounds will move on to the Evan Williams Bourbon Championship, currently slated for Decatur Lake, Sept. 22-23. If drought conditions persist at Decatur Lake, the championship will be moved to a nearby fishery.

Bradley Roy

The championship features a bracket format pitting the All-Star Semifinal leader against the fourth-place angler, while the second and third seeds fish against each other. The top anglers from each of these head-to-head match-ups will meet in the championship round on Sunday, Sept. 23.

The All-Star event, to be televised on ESPN2, features 12 of the top anglers in professional bass fishing competing for $100,000 in prize money on lakes in or near Decatur, Ill. Eight of the competitors have qualified for All-Star Week by ranking highest in points during the season-long Toyota Tundra Bassmaster Angler of the Year race.

They include: Brent Chapman (Lake Quivira, Kan.), Ott DeFoe (Knoxville, Tenn.), Terry Scroggins (San Mateo, Fla.) Todd Faircloth (Jasper, Texas) Randy Howell (Springville, Ala.) Matt Herren (Trussville, Ala.) Kevin VanDam (Kalamazoo, Mich.) and Edwin Evers (Talala, Okla.).

Also during All-Star Week, anglers eliminated after the semifinals will act as fishing guides and tournament partners for six wounded military veterans from the "Hope for the Warriors" program. The organization's goal is to enhance the quality of life for post-9/11 service members, their families and the families of the fallen soldiers who have sustained physical and psychological wounds in the line of duty.

Online voters at Bassmaster.com/vote will automatically be entered in the Toyota Trucks All-Star Fan Favorite Angler Sweepstakes. Twelve of those participants will be randomly drawn and matched with the All-Star anglers. The person who is paired with the winner of the Evan Williams Bourbon Championship will claim the grand prize of a Skeeter ZX190 with a Yamaha VZ150 TL.

Undefeated World Champions

The Jinx 8U Fast Pitch softball team has won the Future Stars of Sports World Series in Johnson City, Tennessee. They finished this Fastpitch World Series Tournament in undefeated fashion.

The Jinx 8U team is part of the Jinx Fastpitch organization out of Richmond, which has a total of six teams (8U, 10U, 12U and 14U). The Jinx 8U team had qualified for the fastpitch World Series by winning FSS Tournaments in Kentucky. During the four day World Series tournament, they faced teams from states such as Tennessee, Indiana, Kentucky and Virginia. The competition was solid and playing games over four days (Thursday thru Sunday) can be tough on 8 year olds. However, these girls had worked hard in their preparation and were ready for the challenge.

After games starting on Thursday night, these athletes finished off the weekend by winning the World Series championship game 9-6 in a tough battle till the end, starting out with Indiana taking a 3-0 lead in the first inning with solid hitting. Jinx battled back with great hits and incredible baserunning to tie the game at 3 in the bottom of the third inning. Jinx then took at 6-3 behind more solid hitting, just to see Indiana tie the game again at 6 in the fourth. The Jinx team scored three more runs in the bottom of the fifth with line drive base hits from the top of their lineup.

The defense was turned up a notch in the sixth inning, making three tough plays to finish the game off with three straight outs. The Jinx 8U World Series Champion Team consists of the following players: #10 Jade Pevley, #7 Anniston Bray, #8 Kennedy Messer, #22 Skylar Jacob, #18 Ellie Hahn, #9 Autumn Griffith, #17 Mia Hale, #1 Summer Ray, #4 Macalia Morin, #11 Kayleigh Bell, #2 Sarah Allen.

The team had five players that were selected to the World Series all tournament team (Pevley, Messer, Jacob, Griffith and Hale).

Two of the Jinx players were named tournament MVPs (Jacob and Messer). Coaches include Jason Jacob, Josh Messer, Noah Griffith and Shaun Hale.

Spencer Starting Centre

The last few days have been beautiful, one or two hot days. We love it all.

People who molest small children should be put away forever. I hear of it all the time.

Spencer started her classes yesterday at Centre. Said she was tired and ready to start. They had one week of fun. She has met a lot of students, many from other countries.

My butterfly bush is still pretty. Butterflies buzz it all the time. I will soon break the small limbs and it will come back prettier and fuller next year.

Now they are going to renovate the old courthouse. I guess it is okay. It will probably look better. I remember Arthur showed me the courthouse, the first thing I saw coming to Lancaster.

Do you ever think about growing up. I do often. I used to go to school with my older brothers even though I was not old enough. My mom was the teacher. I played most of the time. Years later we moved from Virginia to West Virginia. My mother and dad said the schools were better for black kids. That is where we stayed until we all graduated from high school. I had a nice childhood. My brothers were good football heroes playing for Stratton High School.

There used to be blackberries everywhere. People used to make jam and jelly and now you just don't see much of that. No berries anymore.

I hope the walnut trees will be around for a long time.

Remember Labor Day. Relax and have a lot of fun doing nothing, have fun with friends and family.

Remember the man above that loves us and takes care of us every day.

No Good News On The News

Hi Folks.

The weather is still hot and dry. We are still watering our garden and yard. We did get almost an inch of rain last week of which I am thankful for.

When I turn on the TV and see all of the problems in Haiti and Florida and other states in the USA I really get tired of hearing all the problems about the mess our country is in. This will never happen until we stop all of the imports that result in a loss of jobs. Our exports are very low. The computers have caused a high loss of jobs.

Our nation has more crimes every day Last week there were eight people shot and wounded at the New York Empire State Trade Center. The man that started the shooting was some one that lost his job resulting in a terrible thing. We hear and see terrible things every day.

I was shocked to learn that the greatest bicycle champion will maybe lose his many medals because of being accused of using drugs.

We watch Channel 200, the news channel most of the time but this week has only been about the election.

We did have a homecoming day at Forks Dix Church. The church was celebrating the 230 years of being a church.

We like sports. We have been watching the Reds play baseball. So far they are ahead.

My great-grandson Devin McCane, son of Jamin and Nicole is crawling like a turtle I don't get to see him very often as my grandson and family have moved to Somerset.

We have seven great-children. They are precious to us. It causes me to worry about their future and what they will face in the future.

I've been cleaning some of my rooms and dusting. I enjoy cleaning them and I am excited now that I can do some work. Husband gets in a big hurry. He hates dusting and running the sweeper but I am thankful for his help. But when I do too much my old back forces me to stop.

One of our neighbors Vernon Montgomery is in the hospital. He is real sick.

Carl Lane is walking and he cooks for his wife when the help goes home after hours.

Two of our daughters Lisa McCane and Darlene Hensley went to Tennessee over the weekend. They went shopping and said they had a good time buying blouses. They even picked one for me. I hope it fits. I'm getting my weight back of which I am happy that I can eat but I don't want to gain too much.

I've given Husband a lot of my t-shirts since he is wearing shorts. He even saw some fellow who he noticed his skinny legs. He even agreed that his legs were better. I said I told you about your legs. Now I have the problem of getting them off of him to wash them.

He takes care of all the yard mowing.

Well I am signing off. Hope all of my readers the best of happiness.

Bye all.

Captain Bob Is Gone

Hello again.

Good to talk to you again. I hope all is well and in a good, positive mood. That's kinda hard to do sometimes with all the shootings and killings in the news. Sometimes I think the media goes a little too far but I guess they are just doing their jobs.

I had a phone call yesterday telling me that a good friend of ours had passed away, Bob Flannery, better known as Captain Bob. We all boated together down on Herrington Lake in our younger days. All the children loved him. Him and his wife Geneva were good people and we all enjoyed each others company. But let's face it we are not getting any younger although we would like to be.

Brian Preston is doing much better. He's back to work but still not 100% yet. Linda retired so she is there to take care of him.

Pray for the sick and shut-ins, our nation and leaders. God bless all.

More From Steve

Hello friends and neighbors on Nina Ridge and all areas of Garrard and surrounding areas that take the paper.

Enjoyed a good visit from my grandbaby Abigail Jane Moore. She is a vision from heaven, the happiest baby I have ever seen. She is walking and talking a lot. She is a joy in our lives.

My wife and I are in a low state from a lot of life problems but the shine in the eyes of our grandbabies make all that go away. I can actually feel my blood pressure drop and my pulse slow and my anxiety disappear. Truly your life is blessed with your perception in that knowing you are loved and God gave us all the capacity to love. As the old song goes Love Lifted Me. Jesus gave us his unconditional love by being the lamb that was sacrificed for our sins. Goodbye and God bless.

Holman Reunion Sept. 1st

Hi to all who read The Central Record. Hope you are doing good and looking up to Jesus for help in these troubled times that we are living in.

The Holman reunion will be on Saturday, September 1st at the old Kirksville school house. Everyone is invited. Come and bring a covered dish.

Our visitors Sunday were Billy & Shelia Bryant, Edward & Genevieve Lamb. Irene Nunn, Roy Lamb and his friend, and Johnny & Tara Bryant and Conner.

Jack Saylor visited one day last week.

Roy Lamb mowed the Stringtown Cemetery last week.

McKayla Horn and Sherry Bryant visited us on Monday and Brayden May and his grandmother Irene visited us Thursday and Friday.

Shirley & Paul Broughton visited Irene Nunn and Linda Baker and Shirley visited Irene Nunn one night and had pizza.

Hi to Venessa Cheek, Debbie Coffee and Louise Greiner.

Thanks Jannefer for that beautiful card. I thought you got it while you were in Florida. Joyce and Carolyn it was good talking to you both.

My great-grandson Logan Johnson visited us on Wednesday. He is the grandson of my late son Jerry Johnson, his only grandchild.

Thanks Joyce Baker and Jannefer French for all my nice things you sent me. I was sorry that I was too sick to come to church but I sure like my things you sent me.

Billy Bryant came by Thursday and got him some tomatoes.

Please pray for the boys and girls in the service. They sure need Jesus to take care of them in that dangerous place.

Pray for Bob Holman and Brenda Holman and Debbie Pingleton, she is so sick.

Hi Brenda Saylor and Anna Frances Lear.

God bless everyone. Pray for our leaders. The world is in a bad shape.

An Encouraging Word

Necessary Work Is Honorable

By Howard Coop

In March, we experienced a severe hailstorm, one of the worst in recent years. That storm caused a great deal of damage in our community and all across Kentucky. One insurance company, reporting in its monthly newsletter, said that offices throughout the state had received 127,000 claims for damage. The young man, owner of the company that replaced the roof on my house, told me that he had received contracts to replace roofs on at least 40 houses in our subdivision and over 300 in and around our town. Of course, other roofers were active in the community also.

A few days after the storm, work to repair the storm damage began in earnest, and throughout the summer, even when the temperature was over a hundred degrees, workmen were on housetops making necessary repairs. As a result, house after house received a new roof and other repairs such as replacing damaged siding and gutters were done.

As I watched a new roof being put on our house and occasionally entered into pleasant conversation with the young man in charge, I noticed that the workmen were courteous, fast, efficient, and professional. As a result of their labor, the work was completed quickly, and a necessary job was done well. I was, and am, grateful to them for their service.

As those workmen labored and I watched, I became aware of this: Necessary work of one kind or another is constantly underway. It is honorable, and it should be recognized as such. Those of us who are a part of western civilization have a heritage, almost two thousand years old, that reminds us "to respect those who work hard among" us and "hold them in the highest regard...because of their work."

Labor Day, always observed on the first Monday of September, is more than the unofficial end of summer and a day free of labor; it is a time to pause for a moment and recognize that necessary work is honorable, and those who are engaged in it render a valuable service.
